The Bank Debate. Speeches of Governor Wright and Judge

The Committee appointed by the Senate to investigate the charges of fraud made by Gov. Wright in relation to the passage of the charter of the Bank of the State of Indiana, closed its labors on Friday, after listening to the speeches of Messrs. Wright and Smith. The order of speaking was for Gov. Wright to open the argument with a speech of an hour and a quarter in length-Judge Smith to follow him in a speech of an hour and three quarters, and Gov. Wright to close in a argument of half an hour in length. Governor Wright began his address by stating that he was glad to have an apportunity of expressing his opinion as a private citizen. He had done his duty as Governor of the State and had made charges against the Bank which he thought he could sustain. He read from the House Journal to show that members of that body were absent when the bill was up, although the record shows their names as voting for it on its passage. He had charged this in his message, and he had believed it to be true. The vote of Mr. McMurray was canvassed and the Governor thought Mr. Murray's oath that he voted against the charter, settled the question. He had charged in his message that the Bank had power to discount on its deposits. It had been denied but, the President had at last acknowledged that noke, who educated him and took him would so discount whether they had the priviledge or not. The manner of taking stock was reviewed. The 19th section allows the Bank's books to be closed a moment after opening. Mr. M. G. Bright had refused to tell the Committee what he had done with the money he received for stock he had subscribed to several branches.

The whole State had been raked to find charges against his integrity and not a whisper could be found. The Governor then cited testimony where money was used to "interest" members of the Legislature to "get the bill through." Some say the amount used was $60,000.

The mass of the testimony here alluded to, charged crime and corruption against the democracy generally, much of which, the Governor said, was founded on mere rumor. The reference to it was brief, but of sufficient length to show that Willard was deeply mixed up in all the schemes set on foot for the charter of banks.] The Governor's speech occupied an hour and a quarter, and was one of the most unreportable speeches, the State Journa; says, ever delivered. It was desultory, abounding in statements, uttered without order or arrangement, and making it impossible to give a correct report of the speech. Judge Smith then replied. He said that grave charges had been made by the Governor, which he had failed to sustain by evidence. He attributed the course of Governor Wright to personal malice. Mr. Smith went on to state that the charter was valid. If the members of the Legislature voted for it through interested motives, still the law could not be set aside, unless such corruption could be clearly proved. He alluded to the bargain made by Wright with Bright.

Gov. Wright had used falsehood, misrepresentation and calumny of the grossest kind since the publication of his bank veto message to the present time. Judge Smith denied the statement of Wright that no other charter, had such a section in it as the 79th ("percussion") of the new State Bank charter. He said that what Gov. Wright had said in relation to the Bank discounting upon deposits was a monstrous misrepresentation. The charge that the charter had passed by fraudulent votes was also false. In fact Judge Smith's whole speech was made up of charges of falsehood against with the greatest accuracy and Chemical knowledge and FOUNDERY & MACHINE SHOP Gov. Wright. He branded everything the Governor had said as falsehoods. He then "pitched into" the Governor on the swamp land difficulties charging him with corruption and knavery. He then summed up the evidence brought to prove that the charter had been obtained fraudulently. A great fuss had been made and after all nothing had been proven DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, He hoped the Committee in their report would not deal in general terms, but name persons and specify charges against individuals. Judge Smith was as bitter and personal in his remarks as Gov. Wright. Indeed both of the speakers seem to have been carried away by passion, to such an extent that they failed to make connected and argumentative speeches. Governor Wright then replied. He was interrupted by Mr. Michael G. Bright who proceeded in a speech of half an hour to abuse Wright, charging him with fraud, venality corruption, &c. The Journal says that "Bright got steam up high", and made himself as ridiculous as possible, but as Bright "was not on the bills", his remarkable speech is not

Governor Wright after the interruption proceeded with fresh fuel added to the flame. He gave the Messrs. Bright a "skinning", and wound up with an appeal to the Committee to say what it thought of the witnesses severally, and what was its opinion of the Bank charter, and how it was passed. The speeches of these gentlemen occupied four hours. In our abstract of the debate, taken from the Indianapolis papers, we have tried to give the facts stated on both sides. It is a matter of deep interest to the people of the entire State and the complete speeches when published will be valuable documents for future reference. The Committee's report will be published in a few days.

Artificial limbs are now made of willow, covered with parchment, painted a flesh color, and beautifully enamelled. The knee-joint, being a successful invention of the ball and socket, avoids the deformity that the ordinary tendon and mortice joint, exposes upon bending the limb. The ankle and toe joints are also imitated, and cords, operated by springs, cams, and eccentrics, give great certainty to the movments of the contrivance.

It is understood at Washington. that Mr. Mason will be continued minister to France-that Mr. Dallas will retain his post at the Court of St. James; and that Mr. Fay and Mr. John Randolph Clay will be continued in their missions. The two latter gentlemen are the only regularly trained diplomatists in the service of the Government, and they have been retained through all the changes of administrations, since the Presidence of John Q. Adams. Mr. John Randolph was the adopted son of John Randolph of Roawith him tokussia when he was appointed minister to Czar in 1829 by Gen. Jackson. When the excentric Virginia fled from the Northern blasts of the Russian Capital, he left his private Secretary, Mr. Clay in charge of the interests of the mission. He was then a youth of twenty. He discharged so well the duties of the trust, he was appointed to a higher station, and has ever since been continued in the public service.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Bærhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those our fatherland scattered here and with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons
